The Trust Board has adopted the following Code of Conduct

Academy Trust Boards have the following core purposes of governance:

Strategic Leadership - the board defines the trust vision for high quality and inclusive education in line with its charitable objects. It establishes and fosters the trust's culture and sets and champions the trust strategy including determining what, if any, governance functions are delegated to the local tier

Accountability and Assurance - the board has robust effective oversight of the operations and performance of the academy trust, including the provision of education, pupil welfare, overseeing and ensuring appropriate use of funding and effective financial performance and keeping their estate safe and well maintained

Strategic Engagement - the board has strategic oversight of relationships with stakeholders. The board involves parents, schools and communities so that decision-making is supported by meaningful engagement

Collectively as a board we agree the following:

- Organisational purpose - our board is clear about the charitable purpose of the trust and ensures these are being delivered effectively and sustainably.
- Leadership - our school is headed by an effective Trust Board that provides strategic leadership in line with the school strategic aims, values and culture and a commitment to fundamental British values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, and mutual respect and tolerance for those of different faiths and beliefs.
- Our maintained board bases its effectiveness on the six key features of effective governance: strategic leadership, accountability; people with the right skills, experience, qualities and capacity; structures that reinforce clearly defined roles and responsibilities; compliance with statutory and contractual requirement; and evaluation to monitor and improve the quality and impact of governance.
- Our trust board bases its effectiveness on the academy features of Trust Board effectiveness: The features of Trust Board effectiveness are culture & engagement, strategy, non-executive leadership, accountability, executive leadership and compliance.
- Integrity - our board acts with integrity, adopting values and creating a culture which helps achieve the trust charitable purpose. Our board is aware of the importance of the public and stakeholder confidence in our trust and trustees undertake their duties, accordingly, abiding by the Framework for Ethical Leadership in Education including the Seven Principles of Public Life (see appendix 1) including avoiding placing themselves under any obligation to people or organisations that might try inappropriately to influence them in their work. Before acting and taking decisions, trustees must declare and resolve openly any actual or perceived conflict of interest and relationships, with our board, managing any risk appropriately.
- Decision making, risk and control - our board makes sure that its decision-making processes follow our required statutory procedures, which act solely in the interest of pupils, are informed, timely, impartial and fair, using the best evidence and without discrimination or bias, and that effective delegation, control and risk assessment, and appropriate management systems are set up and monitored. Our board assesses the risks attached to safeguard and promote pupils' welfare by abiding and role modelling the trust culture to encourage pupils to respect other people with particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in the Equality Act 2010.

- Board effectiveness - our board works as an effective collective team, using the appropriate balance of skills, experience, backgrounds and knowledge to make informed decisions.
- Diversity - our board's approach to diversity supports its effectiveness, leadership and provides sufficient diversity of perspectives to enable robust decision making.
- Openness and accountability - our board leads the trust in being transparent and accountable. Our board and school are open in its working, particularly to ensure transparency of decision-making.

Appendix 1

The Seven Principles of Public Life (Nolan Principles)

(Originally published by the Nolan Committee: The Committee on Standards in Public Life was established by the then Prime Minister in October 1994, under the Chairmanship of Lord Nolan, to consider standards of conduct in various areas of public life, and to make recommendations).

Selflessness – Holders of public office should act solely in terms of the public interest. They should not do so in order to gain financial or other material benefits for themselves, their family, or their friends.

Integrity - Holders of public office should not place themselves under any financial or other obligation to outside individuals or organisations that might seek to influence them in the performance of their official duties.

Objectivity - In carrying out public business, including making public appointments, awarding contracts, or recommending individuals for rewards and benefits, holders of public office should make choices on merit.

Accountability - Holders of public office are accountable for their decisions and actions to the public and must submit themselves to whatever scrutiny is appropriate to their office.

Openness - Holders of public office should be as open as possible about all the decisions and actions that they take. They should give reasons for their decisions and restrict information only when the wider public interest clearly demands.

Honesty – Holders of public office have a duty to declare any private interests relating to their public duties and to take steps to resolve any conflicts arising in a way that protects the public interest.

Leadership - Holders of public office should promote and support these principles by leadership and example.
